Q: Detecting the "Close" button in the modal box

I'm trying to grab the source of the close button in the modal box with `document.getElementById('close')`.

I believe because the button is inside of a div that has the id of box on the same page, the button can be located anywhere within it.

Any assistance would be greatly appreciated. Thanks, Matt A: Try: document.getElementById('divbox').getElementsByName('a')[0].onclick() DEFINED_PHASES=compile configure install postinst postrm prepare unpack DEPEND=>=dev-d0c515b9f4

.Q: Rails - how to make middleware accessible from routes Currently, I can require the middleware file in my controllers, models, etc. However, I don't want to have to do this on every model, controller, etc. I'm currently trying to create a separate module in app/middleware to keep these files out of the fray, but I can't seem to call my middleware. Here is the code I'm currently using

Rakefile namespace :api do task :hello => :environment do get "/hello" end end app/middleware/hello_middleware.rb class HelloMiddleware def initialize @logger = Rails.logger end def call(env) ... @logger.info "Hello World" end end config.ru require ::File.join(File.dirname(__FILE__), '..', 'config', 'routes', 'api', 'middleware', 'hello.rb') run HelloMiddleware

However, when I call I get an error stating uninitialized constant HelloMiddleware::Route Is there a way to make the middleware accessible to the routes module?

EDIT: Here is my routes.rb

namespace :api do namespace :v1 do resources :posts, only: [:index, :new, :create, :destroy] get 'hello' => 'hello#hello' end end

Here is an example of my error: Started GET "/hello" for 127.0.0.1 at 2014-05-27 11:59:40 -0500 ActionController::RoutingError (uninitialized constant HelloMiddleware::Route): actionpack (3.2.8) lib/action_dispatch/middleware/debug_exceptions.rb
