What's new in Battle Of The Robots:

: Standalone Shooters Features: Physics Based Shooters: Grenade launchers and rockets in the Virtual Reality environment! Combine Weapons in Multiplayer: The "gun button" allows combo-shots to be fired in multiplayer. High Speed Guns: The reload button will reload your gun as fast as possible, even when you are engaged in gun-to-gun combat. Muskets and Rifles: I had a some issues with animations for muskets, so I optimized the firearms code and was able to get muskets and rifles working at full-speed. Advanced Teammates Interface: Now you can see what the rest of your team is doing at any given time. See your teammates' health, armor and ammo. Also, you can now see the grenades they are throwing and how much time they have left to use them. Gravity Modifiers: Falls, stairs and heights will now create additional challenges in VR. User Experience Improvements: Slowed down VR to get into and out of cover and back to the gun without having to always fumble with the controller. Also, upgraded the VR button so that it can be used to stop the simulation at any time. High-Speed Movement: Quickly move from cover to cover and around the environment without ever reloading. New crouch movement! Damage Modifiers: Damage bombs/grenades increase in VR. Single, Double and Crippled Tech Trees: Tech Trees for the Single, Double and Crippled system. Advanced Enemy AI: Enemies will now take cover, duck behind cars, climb walls or conceal themselves among more complex obstacles. Enemy weapons will rotate to track your gun. Enemy AI will also move to areas where to side you best advantage and attempt to flank you. Sniper Mechanics: Sniper rifles are now modeled with a scope, bipod, magazine and recoil. "I love shooting games but usually don't play them because they are all on "flat" worlds. I recently tried Valkyr and was fascinated by the immersion I was getting when trying to gun down enemies... Finally in VR I'll be able to kill everyone." -Nate49KS, Beta Tester, VR Game Developer at Orange. "As a fan of boxing, I love that you could throw and punch in VR, do an uppercut and hook it into an opponent's Battlefield: Bad Company 2 - Special Edition takes the multiplayer shooter experience for Battlefield 2 to a new level. Boasting an incredible new engine, a robust and deep arsenal of weapons and vehicles, great battlefield destruction, improved networking and AI, Bad Company 2 includes the award-winning single player campaign and a new and expanded multiplayer mode. The new campaign puts you back in the boots of Sgt. Michael Johnson and gives you a true experience in Black Ops. Add to that great community features like offline server list, medal system, clans and badges as well as the brand new Bad Company 2 vehicle editor and you have an experience that takes multiplayer to a whole new level. - Set in the northern town of Pas de Calais in the Summer of 1944, players can choose to join the Allies or the Germans as members of the US Army's 1st Army Infantry. This is an immersive tactical FPS experience on land, sea and air in the most historically accurate shooter yet. - Guided by a powerful AI, players will embark on a personal quest to take down the Third Reich. How this mission will unfold is up to them; from the moment players embark on their journey they will develop their own individual style as they clash with friends, allies and enemies as they choose their own destiny in the face of great historical forces. - Two teams of eight players each can battle it out in fast-paced multiplayer action using powerful weapons and vehicles. - Killstreaks, while still being a highlight, are less in-your-face than before. Players are required to observe the area and spot opportunities for one-off kills. As such it is much easier to have some fun when playing BFBC2, and it will be clear who is the most skilled player regardless of team colours. The are coming out with a cool patch? I love how they are so pretentious and like they are always right. They fix the server exploits when the "hellzapits" who bought the game b4 it came out, said "lol they have been fixed and are working on more". Come on. Is it really that hard to make a patch that fixes all the game and server exploits in the game with new (in a way more bugfree) netcode instead of "the hellzapits said it was unplayable, so we are fixing that now" sort of patches? We can all hope for this right? _____ Quote: Originally Posted by Hooch The
